

Yes, in this photograph, there are guns and weapons; there are systems of people vying for beliefs; and there is a world in which many disagree and agree, fight and make peace, act and observe, cheat and play fair, and persevere and struggle. But, looking at this photograph, all I see is the sky above it all.

Mark Singerman